Norway	Students at Risk Program	Student activists who due to their human rights' activism, are «at risk» of being formally or de facto denied educational or other rights in their home country.	The Students at Risk-program provides support to students, by providing these students with an opportunity to complete their education in Norway. Students must be nominated by a nominating organization in Norway, which assesses students' risk and activism. Students accepted under the programme are enrolled in Bachelor or Master degree programs at the partaking higher education institutions in Norway and receive a scholarship sufficient to cover all necessary costs incurred during their study.	The program is administered by the Norwegian Directorate for Higher Education and Skills, but students must be nominated via a nominating actor/organization in Norway which includes NGO's, universities as well as Norwegian Embassies. Contact person with the Norwegian Students and Academics International Assistance Fund (SAIH) is included below: Lauren Berntsen Program Advisor Email: star@saih.no	https://saih.no/
